

THE FERRYMAN

Who crosses, where they go, and what remains.

CHARON

A working ferryman in a quiet, monumental underworld.

Human silhouettes, worn materials, warm lanterns and dark water.

This proposal explores mood. It does not settle the final character design.

Elysium

PRESERVATION / A memory held in warm light.

PRESERVATION

Toll: 1 obol per boat.

Base pressure: 0.

Printed soul rewards.

These are trial values.
Visual themes are
invented adaptations.

Asphodel

RELEASE & BELONGING / A place among the quiet multitude.

RELEASE & BELONGING

Toll: 0 obol per boat.

Base pressure: 1.

Printed soul rewards.

These are trial values.
Visual themes are invented adaptations.

Tartarus

RECKONING / An unfinished obligation awaits.

RECKONING

Toll: 0 obol per boat.

Base pressure: 2.

Printed soul rewards + 1
service obol if at least one soul arrives.

These are trial values.
Visual themes are
invented adaptations.

A coherent kit, open to revision.

VISUAL LANGUAGE / PROPOSED DIRECTION

River ink

#142A30

Parchment

#F4EBD7

Lantern gold

#B58A49

Quiet olive

#667C67

Ember clay

#A65139

ART

Woodcut-like shapes, tactile grain, restrained light. Charon and souls remain human and expressive. Destinations carry distinct moods without assigning moral worth.

PLAY PIECES

Paper-white card faces, dark type, clear IDs. Color is always paired with names and numbers. Keep illustrations out of rule text and tracking spaces.

TEAM DECISIONS

Confirm character style, destination interpretations, print color budget and typography after the first rehearsal. Artwork is an example direction, not final game canon.

Georgia headings / Arial rules / 63 x 88 mm cards / A4 landscape sheets

AI-generated concept illustrations. Editable native vector templates supplied separately.